

Your talking with your voice down low.
What you're gonna say, I already know.
I've seen it coming for quite some time.
You know me, I read between the lines.
And I've listened to all your lies.
Some things a pretty smile can't disguise.
So, it should come as no surprise.
'Cause I've seen it long ago, in your eyes.
    Seen it in your eyes.
It's taken the place of your warm embrace.
I think it's time to fly.
Everything used to be so smooth.
You were wanting me and I was needing you.
Now it's getting strange, 'cause you've changed and rearranged the rules.

Can't believe what's happening to me.
Twenty-twenty vision and I still can't see.
Must be some kind of blind,
    to ever think that you were mine....
    And mine alone.
'Cause when I call you on the telephone.
Talk to that damn machine.
You don't even know what I mean.

The day we met, our first impression...
Was a major deception.
Nobody can be that cool
Certainly not me and you...but,
Our eyes met, there was something there.
Thoughts travel...The unbroken stare.
Now you say that you don't care.
Well, I've seen it long ago,
    In your eyes.
    I've seen it in your eyes.

We used to be so amused,
    by what the other would say and do.
These days are not so hot.
You love me do and then you love me not.
And it's been Hell sharing this heaven we're in.
But, it's been swell livin' this life of sin.
You say the situation is just no win.
Though I've seen it long ago...
    In your eyes.
    Seen it in your eyes.

You've changed your style,
    and I knew all the while,
    that it's time to say good-bye.
Whatever happened to the life we knew.
You were loving me and I was pleasing you.
Now, it's gone,
I could be wrong.
Won't you tell me something new?

Can't believe what's happening to me.
Twenty-twenty vision and I still can't see.
Must be some kind of blind,
    to ever think that you were mine....
    And mine alone.
'Cause when I call you on the telephone.
Talk to that damn machine.
You don't even know what I mean.

Now it's time to say our last good-bye.
We each say the other didn't try.
Some things were not meant to be.
And by the way, could I have my key?
Listen to the words that cross these lips.
Can't believe they're the ones, I used to kiss.
I gotta say it's not something I've missed.
'Cause I've seen it long ago... in your,

I say try, you say no.
You say stop, and I say go.
Now tell me something I don't already know.
    'Cause I've seen it long ago...
    In your eyes.